From Our President

Hello, BFA members,

Welcome to our summer issue. For all our Bondurant families living in the cities ... welcome to the return of summer vacations with your families and your hot sweltering sidewalks. For the Bondurants in the country, you also enjoy summer family vacations and enjoy the fruits of the land growing near your homes.

From our first families farming on the rivers of Virginia, the Bondurants have spread all over the United States. We grew from the physician/ pharmacist who came to Jamestown in 1700 to the huge family of today and have gone into every occupation known (we've even thought up a few new ones!).

While moving into almost every state in the nation and even abroad, our families were also part of the military. It started with the American Revolution and continues to this day. This year we are returning to our original state of Virginia, but not to Manikintown where Jean Pierre Bondurant settled, but to Norfolk.

Norfolk was developed a defensive fortified area in the 1700's with the development of Half Moone Fort and became an important port of debarkation in the 20th century. Because of its natural land formation, it was as important in the 18th century as it is in the 21st century. As you read in the last issue, it is the strategic port of departure for the U.S. Navy. We hope you join us in Norfolk to hear David Bondurant speak about the port and its wartime contributions, and maybe visit the naval base.

Other nearby historic places include Williamsburg, Jamestown and Washington, D.C., if you wish to stay a little longer in the area. And don't forget about those gorgeous Virginia Beaches. Consider bringing the family, children and grandchildren to visit this area and to meet with your family.

During our meeting this fall, we will select next year's meeting site, which will be outside the state of Virginia. Those of you interested in helping to host the 2017 Bondurant Family Association annual meeting in your city, please send in your request now so we can vote on it this October. Hosting usually means investigating suitable locations for the meeting, hotel accommodations and other activities like the Saturday night dinner together. Your time and expertise are what we need, not your money!

Save October 21-23 for your visit and bring the family along!

Have a safe and happy summer.

Marcelle

Lineages from Our New Members

Debra Diane Kleyhauer of York, PA, descends from Jean Pierre Bondurant through two of his children: daughter Ann who married Jacques Faure (AKA James Ford I), and son John I who married Sarah Rachel Taylor. Debra is the great-granddaughter of Jacob B. Price (1831-1901) and Mary E. Bondurant Price (1845-1934), granddaughter of Harry H. Smith (1883-1935) and Elizabeth A. Price Smith (1881-1968). Mary Bondurant was daughter of John Mask Bondurant (1815-1883) and Eliza Smith Bondurant (1817-1895) of Lewis Co., MO. John Mask Bondurant was son of Thomas Bondurant II (1782-1849) and Mary Ann (Polly) Agee Bondurant (1795-1832), grandson of Thomas Bondurant I (1744-1822) and Rhoda Agee Bondurant (1746-1845). Debra has also shared her extensive family research, which will be added to the BFA database.

Dr. Michael Engel is a descendant of Ann Bondurant, daughter of Jean Pierre Bondurant and Ann Tanner Bondurant, and her husband Jacques Fauré (James Ford I) through their son James Ford II (1743-1786) and his wife Sarah (Sally) Burrit. Michael is the grandson of Hughes Wesley Pratt (1913-1990) and Esther White Ford (1911-2005), great-grandson of Ollie Frances Ford (1894-1949) and her husband Franklin Wesley Pratt (1888-1956), gggs of William Clinton Ford (1857-1929) and Narcissa Parmelia Stephens Ford (1861-1935), ggggs of John Calvin Ford (1832-1912) and his wife Nancy Randolph Ford (abt 1833-abt 1901). John Calvin Ford was son of Charles Ford (1807-1891) and Elizabeth Iphey Grizzle Ford (1810-1893), grandson of Elisha Ford (1777-abt 1835) and his wife Elizabeth Duncan (1776-).

Shirley Watkins Seaborn also descends from JPB via his son Thomas Bondurant I (abt 1744-1822) and his wife Rhoda Agee (abt 1746-1845), which makes her a double-descendant, too. She is the granddaughter of Jerome Ayers Wilson (1891-1949) and his wife Evelyn Rebecca LaPrade Wilson (1900-2000), great-granddaughter of Daniel Sturdivant (Bossie) Wilson (1850-1904) and Anna Lavonia (Love) Bondurant Wilson (1847-1921). Anna Lavonia Bondurant was daughter of Jerome Wellington Bondurant (1815-1843) and Sarah (Sally) Malloy Garrett Bondurant (1823-1881), granddaughter of James Bondurant (1779-1846) and Sarah (Sallie) Josephine Watson Bondurant (1791-1882), and gggd of Thomas Bondurant I and Rhoda Agee Bondurant.

In Memoriam

Saying Farewell to Our Cousins and BFA Members

Richard Lee (Rick) Mayes, 62, passed away March 14, 2016, in Athens, GA, after a brief illness. He was born Jan. 14, 1954 in Glasgow, KY, the only child of Herbert Clifton Mayes and Mary Della Wheeler Mayes Campbell of Glasgow, KY. Rick owned the Ellis-Mayes Funeral Home in Leitchfield, KY, for many years.

Rick came to Athens in 2001 after marrying his loving wife Eve, who survives him. His step-son Sean Weeks of Pocatigo, beloved granddaughter Haley Weeks of Center, mother-in-law Mary Bondurant Warren of Athens, family and friends will always remember him fondly.

He is also survived by his former wife Rita, sons Jacob (Jill) Mayes of Lawrenceburg, and Ben (Tiffany) Mayes of Leitchfield, and daughter Jennifer (Brandon) Mayes-Laracuenta of Frankfort, 3 grandsons, 2 step-grandsons and a granddaughter on the way. Numerous cousins in the Glasgow, KY, area also mourn his passing. The funeral was conducted at Broadway Missionary Baptist Church, Leitchfield, KY, on March 19, followed by a graveside service at the Glasgow Municipal Cemetery, Glasgow, KY.

Athens Banner-Herald (GA) - Mar. 26, 2016

Rick Mayes & Eve Bondurant Warren Weeks were married June 1, 2001, in Leitchfield, KY and enjoyed almost 15 years together.

A note from your editor: Many thanks for all the kind words and condolences in the passing of my dear husband and best friend after his last battle with septicemia. He was very proud of being an "adopted Bondurant" and spent many hours proof-reading, assembling newsletters for mailing, and helping me to find online obituaries for publishing. He was one-of-a-kind and we have been truly blessed to have had him our family for 15+ years.

Judge Thomas Jack Bondurant, Sr., passed at the age of 90 on Saturday, February 20, 2016, in Brentwood, TN. He was born on May 7, 1925 in Damascus, VA, and spent most of his youth in Elk Garden, VA, working on the Stuart Land and Cattle Company Farm, attending the old Elk Garden Elementary School and Lebanon High School. Following high school graduation, Jack entered Emory & Henry College in Emory, VA. His college career was interrupted by World War II where he served with distinction earning several medals and commendations including the Bronze Star and Purple Heart. He was severely wounded in combat in France, and then spent a long recovery at hospitals in England and California.

After the war Jack was eligible for two years of education under the GI Bill. He took full advantage of this opportunity by finishing his remaining one year of college and three years of legal education at the University of Richmond Law School in the eligible two years. Jack graduated from law school in 1950 and returned to Lebanon, VA, where he established a solo law practice.

While residing at Miss Verna Routh's boarding house in Lebanon he became enamored with the new public health nurse Margaret "Peggy" Starr. Peggy succumbed to Jack's charms and they married in 1952. Jack eventually formed a law firm with the late Brantley Griffith and the late Leon Owens. Their legal practice was the quintessential "general practice" of a country law firm.

Jack was appointed General District Court Judge and spent most of his career riding the circuit between Russell, Giles and Bland Counties. He was recognized for his honesty, ethics and integrity, being named Chairman of the Judicial Inquiry and Review Commission, a state body that monitors and regulates Virginia state judges with an eye towards maintaining the highest judicial standards. Jack retired from the bench and lived his latter years near family members in Salem, Virginia and Atlanta, Georgia.

Jack and Peggy engaged in extensive world travel, often with family members and close friends David and Pat Peck. While married they visited every state in the United States; every province and territory in Canada; and, most of the countries in Western Europe, Scandinavia, Central & South America and Northern Africa, many of them more than once. Jack was known to all for his quick wit, great sense of humor and his interest in all things large and small.

Jack is survived by his wife, Margaret "Peggy" Starr Bondurant; sister, Rebecca Lynch; daughter and son in law, Elizabeth "Betsy" Bondurant Moreland and James Moreland, and son and daughter in law, Thomas J. Bondurant, Jr., and Roberta Motherway Bondurant; grandchildren, Mary "Molly" Moreland Knowles and husband Eric Knowles, Anna Moreland Stewart and husband Hunter Stewart, Kathryn Douai Bondurant, Thomas Jack Bondurant III, and Conor Nick Bondurant; and great grandson, Mark James Knowles.

Services in celebration of Jack's life were held on Saturday, February 27, 2016, at the Emory & Henry College Memorial Chapel, Emory, Virginia. Burial in Holston Conference Cemetery in Emory, VA. In lieu of flowers the family requests memorial contributions be made to Emory & Henry College, P.O. Box 950, Emory, VA 24327 (or online at www.ehc.edu) with designations to the Bondurant Family Scholarship Fund or the I-HEY Athletic Fund.

2016 Bundrant Reunion in Gatesville, Texas

The descendants of Hardin Peter Nathan Bundrant (1863-1887) and his wife Janey Evelina Cooksey (1865-1982) have been gathering in the Killeen/Gatesville, TX, area since the 1940s. Many thanks to Paula Powell for the writeup about this year's reunion and Debbie Smith Krenek for the photo above. Information on this branch of our family was shared at the 2014 BFA meeting by Susan Bundrant Scharf and the 2015 meeting by Michael Salzburg-Felts, and in BFA newsletter issue #103.

Hardin Peter Nathan Bundrant was son of Hardin Alexander Bundrant (1833 TN-1907) and Nancy Jane Hancock (1840 MS-1890) of Killeen, Bell Co., TX; and grandson of John Bondurant/Bundrant (1782 Henry Co. VA-1850 TN) and his 2nd wife Lucy Gilley (1797-1882). John may have been son of Richard Bondurant (1740 VA-between 1801-1809 in Buckingham Co., VA) and his wife Celia Ann Hall (1741-1829), grandson of John Bondurant I (1711-1774) and his wife Sarah Rachel Taylor (1711-1762), and great-grandson of immigrant ancestor Jean Pierre Bondurant and his wife Ann Tanner.

The 2016 Bundrant reunion was held Sunday June 26, 2016 in Gatesville, Texas. There were 19 people attending this year, some blood kin, others married into the family.

This year in attendance there were Lorene Bundrant Powell, Paula Powell (Lorene's daughter in law), Jimmy Williamson (Paula's 2nd husband), Jan Ward (Paula's mom), Rachel Bundrant (Lorene's Sis in law), Paul Bundrant (Rachel's son), Don Bundrant and his wife Joyce (he and Lorene are double cousins, there were 3 Bundrant brothers that married 3 Mostellar sisters), Bonnie Bundrant McDonald (her daddy was Travis Bundrant), Jessie Fay Bundrant Secrest, daughter of George Decatur Bundrant and her grandson James Yoho was there, Keith and Rita Curry, Polly Step with her friend and her daughter Rhonda S. White, Debbie Krenek with her brother Avril Lewis Maynard and Phyllis Harvey, good friends with Bonnie McDonald and they are related down the Mostellar side of the family.

A nice lunch was served and conversation revolved around photos, shared information and the DNA testing done by Ancestry.com. Debbie Krenek shared info found on Ancestry and was able to verify some information through Don Bundrant, who had photos and information to share as well as first hand knowledge.

Editor's Note: The 2017 reunion is planned for the last Sunday in June, June 24th. Details will be posted as they are announced by the Bundrant family.

Mining Obituaries for Family Information

For many years, we have collected obituaries and death notices for various Bondurant family connections, but until working on this issue of the newsletter, I never realized how much information can be gathered from not only what makes it into the local newspaper, but from the more detailed obituary, guest book and photo gallery that the modern funeral home might put online.

As many of you know, my beloved husband, Rick, passed away on March 14th, and until I had to deal with the publicity of his passing and funeral, I had no idea what it entailed nor just how much it costs now-a-days, just to get a funeral announcement or a short obituary and a photo put into even the local newspaper, much less those elsewhere! And if you want to publish a long obit with family connections (“the begats” as we genealogists sometimes call them) in the newspaper, the price can get pretty high!

So as I was compiling the update to the modern obits for the various spellings of the Bondurant family name (Bundrum, Bundren, Bundrant, and BonDurant) from the online newspaper database GenealogyBank.com ($), something prodded me to use Google to see if there might be other places or newspapers not included in the Genealogybank.com database where I might find information of genealogical interest about recent decedents with these family connections.

Did I hit a goldmine! Keeping in mind that most of the time the information given in any obituary or death certificate is only as accurate as the knowledge of the person giving that information (as Rick told me many times), taking time to check the printed or recorded information against other sources may be critical in keeping your own research on the right path. Those other sources may also yield anecdotal or genealogically significant data that would not have been found anywhere else!

What do you want to know? This basic question typically includes full name (including maiden name) of the deceased, parents’ names, spouse(s)’ name, birth date (and place), death date and place, and place of burial. So what else would you like to know? Children’s names, their spouses, and offspring? Siblings of the deceased and their spouses? Occupation? Education? Hobbies?

As our families get more and more far-flung across this world, many of us grow up not knowing who even our first cousins or aunts and uncles are/were. And when you’re busy playing with the other children attending a family reunion at some far-off place that you had to ride all night in the car to attend, you don’t stop to learn these things or to listen to the reminiscing of the older folks after the meal is finished.

Many modern newspapers publish death notices or obituaries in their paper editions, but the online version of this same material has been licensed obituary databases such as Legacy.com, and only a snippet of the original obituary may be viewed online after about a month following publication. Thus to access these obits, you must subscribe to the online database, or pay a one-time fee to access that one obituary. Or subscribe to a newspaper database such as GenealogyBank.com (which I have used for years) or Newspapers.com, where the transcriptions of published obituaries are maintained in a searchable database.

The published obituary may give you many of the answers to the basic question above, but to learn about how others viewed the deceased, the work they did in the community, where they went to church, who their connections and friends were, look online to see if the funeral home handling their service might have a photo gallery where friends can share photos, and for a guest book where friends, co-workers and acquaintance can share the impact that this person might have had on their lives.

If no funeral home is mentioned, use Google to search just the first and last name of the deceased and maybe the city where they lived. Giving too much information can eliminate the link to the very source you need. Read the snippets that Google provides to be sure you’re choosing the right person for your search.

When you find the person you’re looking for, take time to make a new folder in your family genealogy section on your computer (you do have one, don’t you? ;->) to save the full obituary (print to PDF and put the last name, then first name and dates in the filename), any photos you want to keep (right-click on the picture and tell the computer where to save it - be sure to put the names in the file name, date and who shared it into the file name), and any other tidbits of interest. You can highlight the guestbook entries (put your cursor at the top left, hold down the left mouse key, then drag to the bottom right of the entry), then right-click within the blue highlighted area, copy & paste into a word processing file, name the file with the last name of the deceased, then the first, date and place, then choose which folder to save it. Try your skills on the test case at the bottom of this article.

How can you use this information? In chatting with my sister Amy Sanders (BFA treasurer) on my way home from work recently, I mentioned a story that I had heard frequently from our great-aunt Birdie Bondurant Clower (1909-2000) in the years that I was one of her care-givers. Amy has been working with our mom to document the memoirs of growing up in Athens, GA, painstakingly typed on a manual typewriter by her father John Parnell Bondurant II (1907-2002) about 1976 as his contribution to the Bicentennial.

But she had never heard of the African-American family I mentioned, who lived at the rear of our great-grandparent's property from about 1910 until about 1935 or so, and helped to maintain the place, possibly for a small stipend and a place to live. Some of this info can be documented on the censuses, but the some of stories about William and Lola Sims and how their family helped my great-grandparents are locked away in my head, waiting on me to write them down, as Grandpop did in 1976.

Year	Place	Name	Relationship	Sex	Age	Marital Status
1910	Clarke Co, GA	Emmett Bondurant	Head	M	33	M

		Wesley	Daughter	F	14	S

Detail from the 1920 Clarke County, GA, census showing my great-grandparents, Emmet Jopling Bondurant, and his wife, Martha (called Birdie) Strong Moss Bondurant, and their children, and the Sims family who lived at the back of the lot.

So, why not add some meat to the bare-bones of your names and dates genealogy? Write down the stories, travels, important events, etc., as you find them. AND be sure to document where that information came from.

Applications for passports (1795-1925) have been digitized and are available online on FamilySearch.org (free) and Ancestry.com ($). The application contains name of father and whether he is living, details of current and past residences, purpose of traveling abroad at this time, person's signature, along with affidavits from people who knew this person AND a tiny black and white photo (glued to the back of the application).

Share what you've found with other family members! Who knows, it might trigger more stories about even more family members, as did my casual discussion on the phone with Amy!

Save and document! Most of us are accustomed to using our cell phones for texting or making a phone call. How often do you use it to snap photos at a family gathering? or to make a video or audio tape of everyone reminiscing after a funeral? Some of my treasured photos of my cousins all in one place were taken after our great-aunt Birdie Bondurant Clower's funeral in February 2000 and following our grandfather's (her brother) funeral in 2002.

YOUR TEST CASE: The Richmond Times-Dispatch (VA) newspaper on Saturday, January 3, 2015, contained this brief death announcement: Shiflett, Mrs. Martha Lee Bondurant, 54, of Quinton, wife of Dennis E. Shiflett

Can you find out who her parents were? When was she born? Where did she go to college? When and where did she get married? Did she have any children? [Hint: Google her name!] Answers will be included in the next issue of the BFA newsletter.

Now try to do this for one of YOUR own cousins or siblings who has passed away! Share your results with us, won't you? Email your results to ebmayes@windstream.net so we can add them to the BFA database. If you wish to make this information available for a future BFA newsletter, please say so!

A number of these loved ones have since passed away and other have left through divorce. The smallest ones (Rachael and Jennifer Warren, granddaughters of Mary Bondurant Warren) are now in college!

Rosemary Margaret Bondurant Cyr peacefully passed from this life into eternity on June 4, 2016. Rosemary Margaret Bondurant was born April 28, 1927 in Rapelje, Montana to Wallace and Goldie Bondurant. She was the second born of 8 children. At a very young age the family moved to Hocquiam, Washington, where she lived until the age of 16 when the family moved to Yakima, Washington.

At the age of 20, Rosemary met and married her husband, Fred Cyr. They were married 60 years and had 6 children. Rosemary owned and operated Cyr Jewelry Manufacturing with her sons Fred and Carl. She created and carved charms of wildlife animals out of wax and cast them into gold and silver. Oil painting, poetry writing and singing, and playing the guitar were some of Rosemary's many talents and interests. She loved working in her flower and rock garden, and always seemed to have a project she was working on. Mom wasn't afraid to voice her opinion on any subject matter. Sometimes we appreciated her input and sometimes we didn't, but she always made you think. Most importantly, Mom was a loving and supportive mother and we are going to miss her tremendously. Alzheimer's disease whittled away at her little by little, and finally took her from us. Even though, right to the end, she could tell us she loved us. We miss you Mom, and will love you forever more!

Rosemary was preceded in death by her husband, Fred Sr; parents, Wallace Bondurant and Goldie Peterson; brothers, Warren Roberts, Wallace Jr, and Lee and Bill Bondurant; sisters, Nikki Menconi, Dorothy Emerton, and son-in-law, Don Smith.

Her children are Theresa Smith (Don) of Seattle, Susan Abel (Rick), Fred Cyr Jr, (Karen), Carl Cyr (Veta), Don Cyr (Tina) of Yakima, and Roy (Shelley) of Selah. Rosemary has 19 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

We would like to thank Cedar Hills for the care they gave Mom the past 5 years and Cottage in the Meadow for caring for Mom the last few days of her life. You made her last few days the best they could be. We are very grateful.

Funeral Services were held at Langevin El Paraiso Funeral Home, 1010 W. Yakima Ave., Yakima, WA, on Saturday, June 11, 2016. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Alzheimer's Association or the charity of your choice. To share a memory of Rosemary, please visit www.lepfuneralhome.com.

BUNDRANT OBITUARIES found in the newspaper archives from found in the newspaper archives from January 1, 2016 to July 30, 2016 on the subscription website www.genealogybank.com and elsewhere, compiled July 30, 2016 by EBM.

ALGIE MAE (HILL) BUNDRANT (June 7, 1919 – December 29, 2015)
Algie, Mom, Grandmother (Granny), Great-Grandmother (GiGi), Aunt and friend to many.....

Algie was born June 7, 1919 in Waynesboro, TN and went to be with her LORD and SAVIOR December 29, 2015 in Seattle, WA. She was the oldest child born to Charlie (deceased 1949) and Mary Hill (deceased 1971). Algie was followed by sister Greetus Hill Munn (deceased) and her husband Edmund (deceased) and niece Lisa (deceased).

Algie graduated from Waynesboro High School and attended a beautician school in Nashville, TN. She married Charles Lawson Bundrant of Waynesboro on November 23, 1940 (Mother often reminded all of us that they dated 7 years before getting married). Lawson worked for General Foods, of Memphis, TN from 1939 until he retired in 1970 in Evansville, Indiana. They moved from Evansville back to Waynesboro and built their retirement home on family property belonging to Algie. They called it Green Acres Farm, and Lawson wore his white shirt under his overalls on his tractor. Lawson and Algie had previously lived on the farm during the war as did their children Charles Hardin Bundrant (wife Diane) and Linda Jo (Bundrant) Nelson (husband Doug). They were the fifth generations to have lived on the farm property.

Algie, was a wife, homemaker, room mother and church worker. She worked in the nursery/children's department of their home church in Evansville (Grace Baptist) and also in Waynesboro at Green River Baptist. That experience helped with her five grandchildren, Joe (Mary Sue), Jill (Frank), Julie (Randy), Derek (Moni) and Krissie (Kory). Those five grandchildren blessed Algie with 18 great grandchildren: Analise (Tommy), Ali (Jeremy), Lawson Joseph, Noah, Levi Charles, Samuel Lawson, Taylor, Madison, Camden, Dominic, Charlie, Julianna, Isabella, Naomi Mae, Gage Lawson, Gus, Micah and Mackenzie (two more announcements on Christmas eve and Christmas day 2015 would be great-great grandchildren and this made GRANNY SMILE BIG before she passed with family surrounding her.

Algie came to the Seattle area when Lawson went home to the LORD in April of 1993. However, she made many trips back to her home in Waynesboro to stay during the spring and summer months. Her last visit was in July, 2015, and she always loved "going home". The first fifteen years in Washington were spent with her children Chuck (Diane) and Linda (Doug) and grandchildren. Her last 6 years have been at Crista Assisted Living on the Crista Christian School Campus of pre-school – high school. She was blessed seeing many of her great-grandchildren on campus when they stopped by or during their basketball, soccer, track, volleyball, plays or programs. Granny always told everyone who would listen how many children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren she had and what they were doing. She made many friends in her assisted living where she attended church on Sunday morning and night. She attended a Friday morning Bible study that she was always prepared for, and studied during the week.

In the words of a few of her great grandchildren, "Granny is with JESUS and Granddaddy so she is happy now". SHE WILL BE MISSED.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to: Green River Baptist Church (Children's Building fund), P.O. Box 688, Waynesboro, TN 38485 or Crista Ministries, 19303 Fremont Ave North, Shoreline, WA 98133.

A memorial service was held on Saturday, January 9, 2016 at Green River Baptist Church in Waynesboro, Tennessee, with Cal Hampton officiating, with private interment in Waynesboro Memorial Gardens.
